Mijas village is again immersed in the gastronomic route. Last Friday, January 10th, the second edition of the Gourmet Route began in Mijas Village, organised by the Department for Tourism and in which the Association of Business Owners of Mijas collaborate.

"It is an event, which has a double purpose: on the one hand, promoting the gastronomy of our municipality, and on the other, making known the magnificent restaurants that we have in the village and the quality that characterizes them, which they demonstrate during the gastronomic route", said the councillor for Tourism in Mijas, Jose Carlos Martín (C's).

Following the success of the previous and first edition of the Gourmet Route in Mijas, the activity returns this year with more complex menus, increasing the number of days and the quality of the dishes. These can be enjoyed until March 30th from 12:30 am to 3:00 pm and from 7:00 pm to 11:00 pm.

The objective of this route is to publicize the quality and variety in the gastronomic offer in Mijas. For this, all visitors and residents will have at their disposal a fixed menu for 19 euros prepared by each of the seven participating restaurants, which can be enjoyed both at lunchtime and in the evening, consisting of an entree, main course, dessert and half a bottle of wine.

The Tourism Department has provided a 'passport' where participants will find the menus of the establishments adhered to this route as well as a small map with the location of each of them. These are available at the Tourist Office in Mijas village and at the participating establishments. Diners must stamp their passport in each restaurant they visit.

At the end of the route, each fully stamped passport will enter the draw for a five-day cruise for two people departing from the port of Malaga. They must be delivered to the Tourist Office in Mijas Village before April 30th.

The presentation of the initiative was also attended by the head of the Tourism Department, Juan Carlos Acevedo, who said that "what we want is to boost the local economy, as, after the conversations we have had with the business owners in the village, during the low season in which we have less influx of tourists, there is a need to energize the evenings for our local trade, this being one of the reasons for this gastronomic route to be organised. On the other hand, the president of the Association of Businesses of Mijas Village also assured that all those who attended the Gourmet Route last year were very happy with the value for money, and this year they want to double the number of visitors, with improved organization and more elaborate carefully planned menus.

The restaurants

La Fuente, Fiesta, Fedé's Inn, Chema's terrace, Mengüñez, Triana and Koco Bistró are the establishments participating in this edition. Each of them has designed a special menu for this occasion in which we can find dishes such as crispy Asian fish pie with green curry puree and broccoli or oxtail cannelloni and Payoyo cheese.

ENVIRONMENT

'Mijas reforesta' continues its fight against climate change with a planting day

The Department for the Environment invites us on Sunday 26th to reforest or water trees planted on the Alpujata mountain range

Beatriz Martín. Plant trees and save lives. Under this premise and that of different studies that consider reforestation as the most powerful weapon in the fight against climate change, the 'Mijas reforesta' campaign continues to develop activities in the municipality.

The next planting day will be on Sunday, January 26th and will take place in a location in the Alpujata mountain range, where "we will carry out replanting projects and will proceed to irrigate an area that has already been reforested to keep the trees that were planted then alive", explained the councillor for the Environment of the Town Hall, Arancha López (C's), who clarified that "it will depend on the weather that precedes that day to determine the activity to be carried out".

The meeting point for this activity will be the Entrerriós shelter at ten in the morning. From there, we will depart to the area chosen to develop this activity, which is aimed at planting trees through different parts of the municipality to preserve our environment. "From the Town Hall, we will provide all the tools required to carry out the activity, all we need is volunteers to come and help us in the irrigation or planting of trees, depending on the needs of that moment".

The activity is also aimed especially at those people who want to be part of the Mijas environmental volunteer programme and raise awareness among the general population against climate change. "Actually, we are seeing very positive results in terms of raising public awareness and not only when reforesting and fighting climate change but also when recycling and learning how to treat waste, although we must remember that the best waste is the one that is not generated", concluded the councillor for the Environment in Mijas.
